

Juniperus communis, var. depressa

FOR EXPOSED HILLSIDES AND BANKS

This is, without doubt, the finest evergreen ground-cover of this type we have. One of the greatest needs in landscape work has been for reliable evergreens, entirely prostrate, giving a mat or carpet of green the year round.

It transplants readily, and from small plants spreads rapidly—in time often reaching a diameter of 15 feet or more.

This Juniper varies from the entirely prostrate type of but a few inches high to 2 or 3 feet high, and in color from deep green to a blue-green. The berries, or fruits, are blue-green and very ornamental.

A splendid stock of plants is offered, all with ball.

LEUCOTHOE CATESBAEI

Few shrub evergreens of the broad-leaved sort have the grace of this one. The thick, shining, green leaves are evenly disposed on long, recurved branches, with dense racemes of beautiful, white, bell-shaped flowers. As an undershrub, or for banks and the borders of streams, it is without a rival. The sprays make beautiful winter decorations indoors, turning a rich bronze in the fall where exposed to the sun.

There is no broad-leaved evergreen that compares with the hardy Leucothoe catesbaei for massing with Rhododendrons and Kalmias. It supplies a finished edging, with fine foliage contrasts the year round.
